Evanston Made is hosting its third Annual Holiday Market, a pop-up market at the former Found restaurant at 1631 Chicago Ave. in downtown Evanston. The pop-up, which operates Thursdays through Sundays from Dec. 1 through 17, will again create a vibrant, art-filled experience for arts enthusiasts and patrons during the holiday season.

This year the market will not only feature art exhibits and pop-up sales of handmade goods by Evanston Made members, but also interactive workshops, “Meet the Makers” events, mixers and art demos. The full programming calendar is available at evanstonmade.org.

“We are thrilled to once again curate this special pop-up holiday experience for the Evanston community,” says Lisa Degliantoni, co-director of Evanston Made. “Evanston Made supports hundreds of creative entrepreneurs in Evanston, and we are ecstatic to be able to take their goods to market this holiday season.”

The space for this year’s Evanston Made pop-up has been donated by The Merion, Evanston’s Signature Senior Living Community, which is owned and managed by Horizon Realty Group. “We are excited to be a part of this wonderful cultural event celebrating downtown Evanston and showcasing the art and handmade goods of Evanstonians,” says Maria Hammer, executive director of The Merion.

Andy Vick, executive director of Downtown Evanston adds, “Evanston Made was able to secure a wonderful venue for its holiday pop-up shop here in Downtown Evanston. It’s a fantastic addition to our holiday re mix, and I wish the participating artists and creatives lots of success. With the City of Evanston’s free ho
